TOAST

Nov. 4, 1986

Ladies and Gentlemen:
Friends and Comrades:

One day has passed for the first international radar conference which started here today. It's a pleasure indeed to see that both Chinese and foreign specialists are here this evening to talk their friendship over a cup of wine. I warmly welcome you to the dinner.

Many foreign organizations and specialists rendered their active support and help to the conference and so do relevant Chinese organizations. The conference also got the help of Jiangsu Provincial and Nanjing city leaders. Please allow me in the name of conference Chairman, express my sincere thanks to all the friends and comrades who help make this gathering possible.

It is the common desire of all present here to promote the progress of radar technology, cooperation and friendship. Today's dinner is a gathering of the radar specialists. I'd like to take this rare opportunity to ask you to raise your glasses and drink to our cooperation and friendship.

During the conference, we also invite our counterparts and their wives to see Nanjing's scenic spots and places of historical interest, and the performances by Nanjing artists. I hope you will enjoy them.

Now, I propose a toast to the progress of radar technology in various countries and mutual cooperation and toast the pleasant stay in China for the specialists and their wives!

Shen Zhongyi
General Chairman

IEEE AEROSPACE AND ELECTRONIC SYSTEMS SOCIETY

The Aerospace and Electronic Systems Society is a society, within the framework of the IEEE, of members with professional interests in the organization, design, development, integration and operation of functional systems for space, air, ocean or ground environments. These systems include, but are not limited to, navigation, avionics, spacecraft, aerospace power, radar, sonar, telemetry, defense, transportation, and command and control. All members of the IEEE are eligible for membership in the Society and will receive this Magazine and the Transactions upon payment of the annual Society membership fee.

The Society Board of Governors, Organization, and its Committees will be found on cover 3.
